TIPS FOR AN ENJOYABLE VISIT

- Large bags and other items may be damaging to the art and are not allowed in the Museum. Store these items at the Front Desk. Complimentary lockers are also available for smaller items.
- Please enjoy the art from at least 24” away (that’s one arm’s length). Fingerprints last forever!
- Outside food and drink are not allowed and may be stored at the Front Desk. Food and drink from the Cummer Café may be enjoyed in the gardens only, not the galleries.
- Help keep the gardens beautiful for future generations by not climbing, sitting, or leaning on the Cummer Oak, garden structures, walls, flowerbeds or sculptures.
- Please DO NOT pick the flowers.
- For the enjoyment of others, please adhere to our Photography Policy, available at the front desk or online.

MUSEUM POINTS OF INTEREST

- T

TILLMAN TUDOR ROOM
Did you know? The Cummer Museum of Art & Gardens was founded by Ninah and Arthur Cummer and named in memory of the Cummers' only child, who died shortly after birth. The Museum opened its doors on November 11, 1961 on the site of the Cummers' residence. Although their home was demolished to make way for the Museum, the Tudor Room commemorates the home they built in 1903 by showcasing its original windows, woodwork, artwork, and furnishings.
- W

WEAVER SCULPTURE GARDEN & PLAZA
When this site was a private residence, there were more than 70 decorative arts objects placed throughout the property. Today, there are a dozen sculptures and countless other decorative elements in the landscape, including some in the Weaver Sculpture Garden along Riverside Avenue, which are accessible to all, even without paying admission.
- F

ON THE FENCE
One of the Museum's most popular selfie spots is along this fence, which features works from the Museum's collection that have been reinterpreted by Jacksonville-based artists Mark Ferreira of Centism Design, Dustin Harewood, Shaun Thurston, and Hiromi Moneyhun. Can you find the originals in the galleries?
- S

SCHULTZ GALLERY
The Schultz Gallery contains the Museum's oldest objects, including an ancient Egyptian stela from c. 2100 BC.
- L

LOVETT GALLERY
The Wark Collection of Early Meissen Porcelain is the most significant collection of its type in the United States and one of the top three collections in the world. Why? The more than 700 items in the collection date to the earliest years of the firm's production, when the German firm, based in the city of Meissen, held the monopoly on European porcelain production. At the time, porcelain was more valuable than gold!
- C

BANK OF AMERICA CONCOURSE SHOP
The Bank of America Concourse Shop is a venue for regional artists whose works share parallel themes with featured exhibitions. It changes several times a year.
- A

ART CONNECTIONS
Art Connections is our interactive learning gallery for all ages, where your connection to the Museum, each other, and the world begins. Activities are designed to help you slow down, explore, and ignite your imagination. Practice your newfound skills as you experience the art and gardens throughout the Museum.
